Handicap and Divisions

- Week 5-12: Net scoring starts; handicaps adjust weekly.

Handicapping Scoring Explained

Establishing Your Handicap:

- Weeks 1-4: These are play-in weeks where each player's scores are used to establish a handicap and tee box.
- Divisions: After Week 4, teams are divided into three divisions based on total team strokes.

Calculating Handicap Adjustments:

- Weekly Adjustment: Handicaps are recalculated each week to ensure fair competition.
- Maximum Adjustment: To prevent "sandbagging," handicaps can only increase by a maximum of 4 strokes per week.
- Scratch Players: Players who consistently score par or better will have a minimum handicap of +2 (TBD), even if they score below par. Their handicap only adjusts if they score above par. Tee Box placement will help narrow the field even more- the goal is to get rid of outliers.

Handicap Calculation Example (Par 36 Course):

1. Initial Handicap: Assume your initial handicap after Weeks 1-4 is 4.
2. Week 4 Performance: You shoot a score of 44 on a par 36 course, which is 8 strokes over par.
3. New Handicap Calculation:
 - Add your current handicap to the number of strokes over par: 4 (current handicap) + 8 (strokes over par) = 12 .
 - Divide the result by 2 to find your new handicap: $12 / 2 = 6$.
4. Net Score Calculation:
 - Subtract your new handicap from your actual score: 44 (actual score) - 6 (handicap) = 38 .
 - Your net score for Week 4 is 38, which is 2 strokes over the course par (36).

Rounding Rules:

- Rounding Down: If you shoot under your handicap, your handicap for the next week rounds down to the nearest whole number.
- Rounding Up: If you shoot over your handicap, your handicap rounds up.

Substitute Players:

- Scores from substitute players only count if they are better than the absent player's established handicap.

This system ensures fair play and adjusts based on individual performance, allowing for a competitive yet enjoyable experience for all participants.
